Scouts volunteer at Nashville Rescue Mission

Ashland City Boy Scout Troop 987 recently provided community service to the Nashville Rescue Mission during the holidays. The Boy Scouts assisted in food preparation, serving the meals to the homeless at the mission, and then washed dishes, pots and pans and cleaned up the kitchen areas and the dining facilities. This is a favorite Troop activity for Troop 987, as the scouts enjoy the opportunity to serve others and give of their time and efforts for such a worthy cause, said Scoutmaster Dan Cook. This Troop makes several trips to the mission during the year to provide collected clothes, food items, and to help feed the homeless of Middle Tennessee. SUBMITTED
